Hi all:

I need an expert on extrapolation. My client has a dui in which the blood test was slightly under .07. We appealed from the District Court. Somehow Steve Regine got Dennis Hilliard to write a report in which he claims he can extrapolate. I need an expert to write a report sighting the obvious that there's no way one can extrapolate with no information as to when my client had his last drink, what he had to eat that day etc.

Any recommendations would be greatly appreciated. Thank you, Maria
